When it comes to health Care Americans do not realize they have options in fact is they feel powerless to do anything against for their situation you feel you can make a change and you feel powerful you have more power than you ever knew to create change most of us leave our lives in the hands of people that we think no more than us well I'm here to tell you your hands your life is in your hands and with your power you can make a change we all we we support you in your efforts and endeavors hopefully not hopefully it will turn out all right on Tuesday process of change to patient-centered care will be established maybe not all at once but at least a step will be taken I love you Mama what is that airplane I think so what I'm doing it what's that going to be in the way for p sorry this last couple of sentences I didn't know my mic was on
